Police Dogs

Police dogs are dogs that help the police to solve crimes. They have saved many lives with their skills and bravery. They are loyal, they always protect their police officer partners and are considered an important part of many police departments.

Police dogs today are trained in specific areas. Some of their duties are tracking, detection or maintaining order. Police dogs need to have a very special training.

There are many different breeds of police dogs. They are usually treated as heroes, and many times they go to live with their human police officer partner.
